Responsible Visitor Guide Edinburgh

Edinburgh is a city that thrives on sustainability and responsible tourism. Here are some key points for visitors to consider for a more sustainable visit:

Support Local: Dine at local restaurants, and shop at local shops to support the local economy.

Use Public Transport: Opt for buses, trams, and cycling to reduce congestion and pollution.

Recycle: Carry reusable water bottles and avoid single-use plastic bags.

Respect the Environment: Keep the city clean, respect farmland, and avoid taking unnecessary photos.

Consider Off-Season Visits: Visit during the off-season to avoid large crowds and reduce the impact on the environment.

By following these guidelines, visitors can help preserve Edinburgh's natural beauty and cultural heritage for future generations.

Thank you for helping us care for our wonderful city.
